Plane Crashes In Iowa Storm; 11 Aboard Killed, 8 Injured

MASON CITY, Iowa, (AP)—A Braniff International Airways DC3, warned not to land here because of a wild storm, crashed into a pasture Sunday, killing 11 of the 19 persons aboard. Eight were injured, two critically.

An earlier report had given a power failure at the airport as a factor in the crash, but airport officials said the report was erroneous. A power failure an hour later had disrupted some air traffic

Accidents Take 15 In Michigan Over Week End

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents claimed at least 10 lives on Michigan highways over the weekend while five persons drowned.

All but two of the victims were under 40 years of age.

Clarence Albright, 33, of Bridgeport drowned Sunday in Lake Huron near Oscoda. State police said he was swimming from a boat which drifted away from him.

Elmer H. Leik, 34, of Livonia, suffered fatal injuries Saturday when his motorcycle and a car collided outside Detroit.

Henry Verlinde, 66, Grayling farmer, was killed and his wife, Mae, 57, injured when their car and a truck collided Sunday on US23 north of Bay City.

Ten-year-old Robert Parrot of Muskegon drowned Sunday when he stepped into a deep hole in the Grand River near Grand Rapids while fishing.

A head-on auto collision claimed the lives of two persons early Sunday on M50, 15 miles southeast of Grand Haven. They were Albert Yonkers, Jr., 24, of Grand Rapids, and his passenger, Susan Little, 21, of Vicksburg. Police said the second car, driven by Gerald Lundeen, 18, of Muskegon, was on the wrong side of the road. Lundeen and four other passengers in Yonkers' car were injured.

Paul Frederick Jacques, 19, of Marine City, was killed Saturday night and three of his passengers were injured when his convertible overturned on the outskirts of Marine City.

Wilfred H. Martin, Jr., 23, of Detroit, died late Saturday beneath his overturned car in a ditch along a country road 18 miles northwest of Lansing. Police said he apparently lost control.

Patricia Ott, 14, of Grand Rapids, drowned Sunday while swimming in Lake Michigan off North Shore Beach at Grand Haven.

Jerry McIntyre, 16, of Lincoln Park drowned Sunday while swimming in Otsego Lake.

James Curry, 19, of Oxford, drowned Sunday when his sailboat capsized on Barr Lake near Gaylord.

Debris Scattered

The field never received an answer, airline officials reported.

The plane crashed on a farm 4½ miles south of Swaledale.

Highway patrolmen reported a wire of a new high-voltage power line between Fort Dodge and Mason City had been snapped and they said they believed the plane had hit it.

Debris from the crash was spread along a line of more than 500 feet. Police said the plane apparently struck the ground, then bounced for some distance. The plane was demolished, only the tail section remaining relatively intact.

The plane's pilot, Capt. W. A. Pickering, 40, of Parkville, Mo., died at the scene of the crash. The co-pilot, W. B. Wilde, 31, of Minneapolis, died a short time temporarily but had nothing to do with the crash, they explained.

The plane, northbound from Memphis, Tenn., to Minneapolis, was only about 10 minutes out from the field, Braniff officials said, when they radioed it to hold off landing because of the storm.

later at the Hampton, Iowa, hospital.

The hostess, Miss Betty Ann Truly, 23, of Kansas City and Shreveport, La., was reported in "fair" condition at Mercy Hospital in Mason City.

Victims Cry For Help

Among the other injured in the Mason City hospital was Mrs. Milton Schoenberg, 54, of Denver, one of two crash victims reported in critical condition. The other, hospitalized at Hampton, was Mrs. Lee Nichols of Minneapolis. Mrs. Schoenberg's husband died in the crash.

Rescue workers had to cut through the tangled wreckage with torches to free some of the groaning passengers. The workers said there were repeated cries of "Get us out! Get us out!"

After the dead and injured were removed, Iowa National Guardsmen moved in to keep spectators from the scene pending arrival of federal officials expected here today to investigate the crash.

In Dallas, Braniff officials said it was the first fatal crash of one of the line's planes since 1939.

Santa Fe Chief Derailed; 4 Dead And 53 Injured

LOMAX, Ill. (AP)—The crack streamliner Santa Fe Chief derailed just east of Lomax Sunday en route from Chicago to Los Angeles.

Of approximately 200 passengers, four were killed and 53 were injured, only the locomotive and a mail car of the 13-car train held the rails.

The rest zigzagged along the track, some crashing into a parallel string of refrigerator cars on another track. All remained upright except No. 9, which rolled onto its side.

Dead Identified

It was No. 9 which contained most of the victims.

Two of the dead were identified by Henderson County Coroner Dean F. Beals as Edward S. Monty, Phelps, Wis., and Mrs. Gina Guilfi, Albuquerque, N.M.

Another woman and a man, both unidentified, were killed.

At least 13 of the injured were in serious condition in hospitals in Burlington and Fort Madison, Iowa, across the Mississippi River.

A hospital train carrying doctors and nurses was dispatched from Chicago by Santa Fe officials but state police at the scene reported about two hours after the accident additional help was not needed.

Santa Fe's regularly scheduled Train No. 11 westbound to Fort Madison arrived at Lomax about an hour after the crash and took some of the injured to that city.

A Chief passenger, Dr. Edwin Henry Schorer, who proceeded on to Kansas City on another train after treating the injured at the scene, called it the worst wreck he had ever seen.

List Of Injured

"The remarkable thing," he said, "was lack of panic. We had to stop them from moving the injured before they were examined, but there was very little panic."

Among 30 patients taken to Sacred Heart Hospital in Fort Madison were 11 the hospital listed as being in serious condition. They were:

Mrs. Lola Meredith, Louisville, Ky.

Frank Opaniski, Duquesne, Pa.

Mrs. George A. Vetter, Chicago.

Mrs. Cadellia Kane, Chicago.

Ray B. Pence, 816 Forest Ave., South Bend, Ind.

Caroline Stacionis, 719 Kent, Rockford, Ill.

O. C. Worthan, 2447 Benton, Kansas City, Mo.

Louis Thomas, Chicago.

Margaret Connauthay, Wheeling, W. Va.

George Rovegg, Chicago.

Two were listed by the Burlington Hospital in Burlington as in serious condition: Mrs. Merle McMullen, 2517 Broadway, Huntington Park, Calif., and Mary Burke, Tucson, Ariz.

have been ordered to take positions at the palace, but apparently they turned back en route and never reached there.

The crisis developed Sunday following a meeting of air force general officers led by Lt. Gen. Eduardo Gomes, twice a presidential candidate and titular head of the National Democratic Union, which is the chief opposition to Vargas.

The sudden turn of events came after a day-long huddle between army and air force chiefs. The airman said later a "worthy solution" had been found for the crisis resulting from charges that members of the presidential guard were involved in an assassination plot against anti-Vargas editor Carlos Lacerda.

Incumbents Fill Out Republican Slate In State

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Two of the three men Donald S. Leonard beat for the Republican nomination for governor are on the state GOP ticket with him.

Both are incumbent office holders. So are Lt. Gov. Clarence A. Reid, Aud. Gen. John B. Martin and Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard who fill out the statewide Republican slate.

No U. P. Nominees

Those vanquished in the August 3rd primary by Leonard who will try to keep their jobs are Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary of Ypsilanti and State Treasurer D. Hale Brake of Stanton.

Like the Democrats, the Republicans have no Upper Peninsula representative on their ticket.

Leonard kept hands off as the Republican state convention made its selections Saturday. Only one floor fight developed. That was between Cleary and State Sen. George N. Higgins of Ferndale.

When Cleary rolled to a 662-189 lead, Higgins called off the balloting and moved Cleary's unanimous nomination for secretary of state.

Reid and Philip A. Hart, Birmingham Democrat, were named by the voters in their party primaries to oppose each other for lieutenant-governor.

Democrats Unknown

Leonard, former state and Detroit police commissioner, easily outdistanced Brake and Cleary, who finished in that order, and Dr. Eugene Keyes, a former lieutenant-governor from Dearborn, in the Republican primary.

Now he and his team of incumbents will take on Democratic Gov. Williams and the latter's squad of political unknowns in the Nov. 2 general election.

Williams is attempting something no one else—Democrat or Republican—ever did, win four terms as Michigan's governor.

His slate includes James M. Hare for secretary of state; Sanford Brown for state treasurer; Thomas M. Kavanagh, attorney general, and Victor G. Targonski, auditor general.

Bill For Japanese Melons Cut Down

TOKYO, (AP)—The U. S. Army, taking issue with some Japanese farmers, said Monday its paratroopers did only $36 worth of damage to watermelon crops on a recent test drop—including the ones the soldiers ate.

The farmers had claimed the soldiers had eaten and otherwise damaged $360 worth.

The Army said every company in the 187th Airborne Regiment that made the drop will be held equally responsible for the watermelons and will chip in to repay the farmers.

Brazil Crisis Boils Over; Resignation Of President Demanded

By STANFORD BRADSHAW

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazil's long stewing political crisis boiled over today with the air force demanding the resignation of President Getulio Vargas and the army giving him solid support.

For a time Sunday night the guard around the presidential palace was doubled, but after the reinforcements were withdrawn. Early today only one civil guard was seen at the gate and one military policeman walked a beat beside the building.

Army tanks were reported to have been ordered to take positions at the palace, but apparently they turned back en route and never reached there.

The crisis developed Sunday following a meeting of air force general officers led by Lt. Gen. Eduardo Gomes, twice a presidential candidate and titular head of the National Democratic Union, which is the chief opposition to Vargas.

The sudden turn of events came after a day-long huddle between army and air force chiefs. The airman said later a "worthy solution" had been found for the crisis resulting from charges that members of the presidential guard were involved in an assassination plot against anti-Vargas editor Carlos Lacerda.

The attempt resulted in the slaying of popular air force Maj. Ruben Vaz and brought rumors of resentment from air force leaders which culminated in the resignation Lacerda.

French Premier Trying To Save EDC Army Plan

LONDON (AP)—French Premier Mendes-France and Prime Minister Churchill conferred in an atmosphere of crisis today in an effort to save the Western world's European army plan.

The French leader flew to Britain from Brussels after his failure there to sell France's five continental allies on proposals for a watered-down version of the European Defense Community Treaty that would put a half million West Germans into military uniforms.

Mendes-France plunged immediately into talks with Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden at Chartwell, the 79-year-old Prime Minister's private residence in Kent, 25 miles from London.

Mendes-France gave Churchill, father of the idea of a united European defense, a rundown on the abortive Brussels conference.

Britain, like the United States, is associated with but not a member of the proposed EDC which would include France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Italy and West Germany.

Both London and Washington have been pushing hard for EDC, arguing that the plan which provides for West German rearmament is vital for the defense of Europe against Communist aggression.

Mendes-France believes there is little or no chance that the French Parliament will accept EDC in its present form when it comes up for debate Saturday.

Adenauer Deputy Newest Traitor In West Germany

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's newest traitor — a once-trusted Deputy of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian democratic party — was in a position to betray many government secrets to the Communists in the Soviet zone today.

Karl Franz Schmidt-Wittmack, 40, has at his disposal all the confidential information he gathered in closed-door meetings of Parliament's committees on the European army and all-German affairs. East and West German sources alike agreed he would place all this at the disposal of the Communists.

On Important Committees

The Parliament member, Dep. Chairman of the Christian Democratic party in Hamburg, drove casually into the Soviet zone last Thursday with his wife and 11-year-old daughter, ostensibly on a business trip to West Berlin. He never turned up at his destination.

Instead, the Communist East German Interior Ministry announced Saturday night that he had requested and received asylum. It stressed significantly that he would continue his "political activity" in the East.

East Berlin sources boasted today that Schmidt-Wittmack would campaign publicly against Adenauer's pro-American policies in the same fashion as Dr. Otto John, who deserted as West German security director July 20.

In Bonn, Adenauer's party lieutenants were still virtually speechless today at the Hamburg deputy's switch. They had named him to the two most important Bundestag (lower house) committees after he was elected last September.

Disowned By Intimates

One committee has access to the most hush-hush plans of the National Defense Commission for raising an armed force of 500,000 men, either in a European army or separately under NATO.

The other committee, in dealing with all-German affairs, has been continually briefed on anti-Communist subversion organized by Western agents in the Soviet zone.

Both in Bonn and Hamburg, West Germany's largest city, political intimates of Schmidt-Wittmack hastened to disown him. All said they had been completely deceived by his professed conservative views.

Pledge In Blood

He said the questioning concerned "acts of violence and lawlessness ranging from AWOL offenses and marijuana addiction to knife assaults on those who had informed on the gang after signing a pledge in blood to obey 'the laws of Pachuco.'"

The Air Force revealed that Lt. Robert D. Whitley, chief of the juvenile division of the Los Angeles Police Department, flew to Chanute Friday to aid in the roundup.

Wilson said Whitley briefed Air police on how the Pachuco organization operates since he has had experience with similar gangs on the West Coast.

Saturday morning, segments of the base's complement of 15,000 airmen were assembled and ordered to strip to the waist. Some 175 were found with "unexplained marks or tattoos." Many carried switch-blade knives.

Sign Carved In Skin

After extensive questioning, all but 30 of the 175 were released but kept under post arrest. The remaining men, said Col. Wilson, were "surly and arrogant and living up to the code of Pachuco."

He said all had a "sign of Pachuco" carved into their palms or chest. This sign, he said, resembles a cross, with slashes added to honor "particularly outstanding acts of violence committed by the member."

He said he had a Pachuco "code" in his possession pledged that no information must be given

Young Airmen Form Terrorist Society At Chanute Field

CHANUTE AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP)—Air Force officials announced Sunday that 30 young airmen had been seized as suspected members of a secret youth terrorist society called "pachuco."

Col. Grover Wilson, technical training group commander at the base, said the men are in the guardhouse being held for questioning.

He said the questioning concerned "acts of violence and lawlessness ranging from AWOL offenses and marijuana addiction to knife assaults on those who had informed on the gang after signing a pledge in blood to obey 'the laws of Pachuco.'"

The Air Force revealed that Lt. Robert D. Whitley, chief of the juvenile division of the Los Angeles Police Department, flew to Chanute Friday to aid in the roundup.

Escanaba Port Authority Lists Harbor Factors

Looking forward to a meeting of the Great Lakes Harbor Association to be held at Muskegon, Sept. 12-14, and development here in connection with the St. Lawrence Seaway, the Escanaba Port Authority has listed "important factors" to be presented.

Escanaba is expected to be represented at the Great Lakes Harbor Association meeting, when delegates from major port cities gather to confer on the impact of the St. Lawrence Seaway traffic on port facilities.

Capt. B. J. Gallagher is chairman of the local Port Authority appointed by the Escanaba City Council, and Roy A. Jensen is secretary.

Factors To Present

Other members of the nine-man Port Authority are Grover Lewis, John Gannon, Guy Knutson, Charles Priestner, Maurice Harrison, Robert Losse and Ralph Christiansen.

Listed as "important factors" by the Authority in connection with the St. Lawrence Seaway development and its local effect are the following:

City Property—Known as the ore dock property, the city-owned tract has approximately 1,300 feet of frontage; railroad right of way, fire protection, roads.

Excellent Harbor—Good weather protection, deep channels, deep water close to shore for docks. Three or more sites available for dock construction.

Study Is Continuing—The port is served by three railroads, good trucking facilities; is geographically centralized and has a long season of navigation; and it is not necessary for boats to traverse the Soo Locks.

U. S. Senators Ferguson and Potter have been advised of the creation of the Escanaba Port Authority and its objectives, and has asked that it be given information helpful in its work. They were advised of Escanaba's "excellent harbor location" and that it should receive the "utmost consideration" as Seaway plans develop.

State officials have also been supplied with a list of Escanaba's advantages as a port, and their cooperation asked.

In addition, the Port Authority is compiling copies of maps of shoreline properties showing locations and easements for railroad and truck lines. All of this material will be helpful in the anticipated program of development following completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Safety Patrols To Meet Here Tuesday

Safety Patrol boys and girls of the Escanaba public schools, who are to be guests Tuesday afternoon at the U. P. State Fair, are asked to meet at Escanaba Junior High School at 12:45 p. m. before leaving for the fair grounds.

The Safety Patrol members will receive information and tickets from their group leaders, said George Ruwitch, assistant superintendent.

On Tuesday all Safety Patrols in the Upper Peninsula will be honored by a special program at the U. P. State Fair.

Trenary Schools To Open Aug. 30

Mathias Township Schools at Trenary will open Aug. 30 this year. All bus students will be picked up at the usual time in the morning, and will be returned home at noon, reports Supt. W. J. McClintock.

The faculty will meet at 1:30 p. m. for their opening meeting of the school year. The complete roster of teachers is as follows: Mrs. Catherine Peikki, kindergarten and first grade; Mrs. Doris Rodgers, second grade; Mrs. Ellen Hytinen, third and fourth grades; Mrs. Eda Valli, fifth and sixth grades; Mrs. Sylvia Ostanek, home economics; Frank Bartol, English; John Simonson, industrial arts; Albert Ikkala, agriculture, conservation, and veteran's institute; George Hager, science and athletic coach; Miss Martha Campbell, commercial and social studies; High School principal; and W. J. McClintock, superintendent.

Bartol, the only new faculty member, received his degree in English from Northern Michigan College. His home town is Trautman.

School Calendar

Hot lunch will begin Tuesday Aug. 31. Also the special kindergarten bus trip at noon will begin on this same day.

Mrs. Laura Orava and Mrs. Agnes Raab will again do the cooking for the hot lunch program, while Frank Praznik and Albert Lemirand will handle the busses. A new school bus has been purchased, and will be delivered before school opens.

The tentative school calendar for the year is as follows: Aug. 30, school opens (half day of school); Aug. 30, teachers meeting, 1:30 p. m.; Aug. 31, hot lunch begins. September 6—Labor Day, no school; Sept. 30, Oct. 1, Teachers' Institute at Ironwood, no school; Nov. 25—Thanksgiving, no school; Dec. 20 to Jan. 3, Christmas vacation; April 8-11, Easter vacation; May 24, commencement; May 27, school closes.

The Mathias Township Board of Education has passed two resolutions affecting the students. First, students will not be permitted to drive cars to or from school, or during school hours, except by previous application by the parents of good responsible drivers to the Board of Education. Secondly, girls in Grades 7 through 12 shall not be permitted to wear blue jeans or slacks during school hours. However, slacks will be permitted at basketball games.

Offer Insurance Plan

The hot lunch allowance from the National School Lunch Act has been reduced by 20 per cent for the coming year. However, the amount charged for 10 meals to the students will remain at $1.50 for the first 2 months of school. Parents are asked to send money for their children's hot lunch tickets on Tuesday, Aug. 31. As before, no meals will be served until tickets are purchased.

Following the example of many other schools in the Upper Peninsula, Trenary School will offer to the pupils this year a schooltime accident insurance plan which will cost $1.25 per student per year. This plan, in which participation is entirely voluntary, protects the student during the policy term (12 months) for injuries received while attending school, playing basketball, physical education, shop, field trips, school forest; while traveling to and from school; or while participating in school sponsored activities away from school premises or after school hours. An application form has been mailed to each family having children in school, and these should be returned to the Superintendents office not later than Sept. 7. No students will be included in the insurance policy for this year who do not have their application and money turned in by this date.

Students who have not attended Trenary School before, or who are entering kindergarten, should bring with them on the first day of school a note from home stating the child's name, parents name, child's birth date, place of birth, and school last attended, if any.

Eisenhower Won Major Battles With Congress

This is the first in a series of stories reviewing the session of Congress just ended.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower won three of his big foreign aid battles with Congress. He lost a fourth, which may hamper severely his policies for tightening U. S. relations with allied countries.

Here is the record:
1. Foreign trade — Eisenhower's major setback. Congress balked at the President's program for lowering tariffs to encourage allied and friendly nations to trade with the United States.

Diplomats attached great significance to the record on this issue because American foreign aid programs, aside from military, are rapidly coming to an end and other countries are worrying about where necessary dollars will be obtained.

Cuts Not Crippling
2. Foreign aid. Congress voted a total of $2,781,000,000 for the current 12 months period — it was around 700 million dollars less than the nearly 3½ billions requested by the President.

Administration officials indicated the cuts were not crippling, however, and would not be interpreted by foreign governments as evidence that the United States was withdrawing into a shell.

3. Atomic. The President registered possibly his greatest victory on this issue. He gained authority, although not all he asked, to transfer to America's allies in Europe secret information about the effects of atomic weapons and such information as size, weight and shape of those weapons.

Officials said this would enable the United States to bring military thinking of countries like France and Italy out of World War II concepts into the concepts of the Atomic Age.

Bricker Amendment
4. Bricker amendment. Eisenhower won a tough fight when the Senate declined to go for the Constitutional amendment put forward by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to restrict presidential powers to make international agreements.

There was a fifth great issue which never was officially presented to Congress although members spent many an hour making speeches on the subject—how to save Southeast Asia from Communist conquest.

The program of legislation turned out by Congress will have a long-range important bearing on U. S. foreign relations aside from immediate effects.

Point Four Stressed
In general the United States is cleaning up eight years of efforts to promote the economic recovery and stability of other countries. Nations like Britain and France are back on their feet—at least to the extent that American dollar grants can get them there. In underdeveloped countries of Asia and Africa, Americans policy increasingly emphasizes Point Four assistance — the relatively inexpensive program of teaching other people how to grow more food and make more goods.

For the big Western European producing countries and for Japan, the great issue now is this: Can they get from United States foreign trade, either directly or indirectly, the dollars which formerly got into international monetary channels by way of American aid?

If they cannot, must they look to Russia and Red China for a greater trade volume or is there sufficient volume among the free nations without an expanded American market?

To Receive Bids For Power Study

Escanaba City Council will meet in special session at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in City Hall to open and consider bids from consulting engineers offering to make an analysis and report on the proposed solutions to the city's power shortage problem.

Two bids had been received at noon today but there is the possibility that additional bids will come in before Tuesday night's meeting, said City Manager A. V. Aronson.

Of a total of 15 engineering firms invited to bid, six said they were not interested when informed that if they were engaged to make the power study they would not be considered for engineering service should the city decide to build a municipal electric plant. The firms were so advised in an effort to keep the power study fair and unbiased.

Three of the 15 invited to bid did not answer, leaving six from whom replies might be expected the city manager said.

Three proposals will be considered by the consulting engineers, should they be hired. They are, in the chronological order in which they were submitted to the city:

1.—To purchase "surplus" power wholesale for a 10-year period from the Alger-Delta Electric Co-operative.

2.—Construct a municipal power generating plant.

3.—Sell the city's electric distribution system to the Upper Peninsula Power Company and have that company serve the customers.

Rhee Not Worried

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee showed but little dismay today at the U.S. announcement to withdraw many of its troops from Korea. "There is no use for foreign troops to stay in Korea if they are not going to fight communism," he said. It was the 79-year-old Rhee's first public reaction to the news that four of the six U.S. divisions in Korea will pull out.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

ESCANABA'S COMPANY C of the 107th Engineer Battalion assembled a fixed trestle bridge, the heaviest of the Army's portable bridging, at Camp Grayling. Competing in a series of basic and technical tests, Capt. Roy Johnson's men erected the 48 foot span in 2½ hours. The 46th Infantry division has 200 feet of this type of bridging and three 20 ton truck-mounted cranes to help erect the spans. This equipment is used to reopen roads to division traffic in a combat area. Sixty two men of the Delta county unit attended the rigorous two-week annual field training together with 9,400 other Michigan National Guardsmen. Company C returned to Escanaba this weekend with a rating of 93.3 per cent, a superior rating given by the regular army inspectors for "Manner of performance".

Finnish Forester Studies Aerial Survey Photography

A Finnish forester, Kullervo Kuusela, has arrived in Escanaba where he will spend a week working and studying with the U. S. Forest Service aerial survey crew. Kuusela, who holds a doctor's degree from the University of Helsinki, will be in this country seven months as part of a student exchange program.

Having arrived in Washington, D. C. about four months ago, Kuusela spent two months there studying language and customs and getting an orientation. He then went to North Carolina where he spent six weeks doing field work on a timber survey. He spent the last week in Munising studying timber classification methods.

Geodetic Party Has Headquarters In East Kingsford

KINGSFORD — East Kingsford has a new settlement which has increased its population by 110 inhabitants.

A field party of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey are operating from a trailer camp headquarters at the Payant baseball field and the engaged in establishing precise triangulation control surveys within a 70-mile radius of Iron Mountain.

Triangulation control is a geographic triangle—a way of establishing definite position on the earth by means of triangular computation.

Such surveys have been made by the Federal government for over 100 years in all parts of the country, but this is the first time such a survey has been undertaken in the Iron Mountain area. The work is done at the request of federal, state and local agencies for use in mapping, boundary location and other engineering projects such as construction of highways, bridges, flood control works, land improvements and development of natural resources.

The field party headquarters at East Kingsford consists of two

Houghton Plans $121,340 Program For Its Streets

HOUGHTON — At a special meeting of the Houghton Village Council, the Thornton Construction company was awarded the contract to resurface all of the streets within the village.

Most of the up and down hill streets will receive an inch and a half layer of bituminous concrete and all other streets will receive a retread treatment of either single or double seal bituminous treatment. This will put all streets within the village back in first class condition.

The total cost of this work will be $121,340.00. This will be paid for by issuing bonds to the amount of $70,000.00, payable back from the receipts from a portion of the gasoline and weight tax monies received from the state and will be paid off in approximately seven years. The balance of the cost will be paid from present village funds that will not be necessary to increase the village taxes to finance this project.

The volume of traffic in Connecticut was 24 per cent higher in February 1954 than in the same month of 1953.

Coast Guard commissioned officers and 39 civil service employees. Most of the men have their families with them, living in large four-room house trailers. There are a total of 110 persons in the party, including 42 children, 17 of them of school age.

'Dummy' Cop Puts Crimp On Speeders

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — The North Carolina highway patrol has come up with a new wrinkle in its war against speeding. A dummy, dressed in a patrol uniform complete with helmet and glasses, is placed in a patrol car parked alongside a highway. Motor vehicles Commissioner Ed Scheidt says it serves as a reminder to motorists.

Delayed Storm May Hit Escanaba Today

Although skies were cloudy and threatening over the weekend, no rain fell in the Escanaba area. The promised storm which is now five days overdue from Montana will probably arrive today and remain until late tonight, Weatherman S. E. Decker said.

The high at Escanaba Sunday was 73 and the low was 66. At 10 a. m., today the temperature was 77 and rising. Decker said that he expected a reading in the 80's later in the day.

Elsewhere in the nation there were widely scattered, locally heavy thunderstorms. One of the heaviest was at Mason City, Ia., where 5.94 inches fell in 24 hours. It was during this heavy storm that an airliner crashed at Mason City.

SHRINKING An Avoidable Evil

by Melton McGovern, graduate of National Institute of Dry Cleaning.

The shrinking of garments is due primarily to three causes:

1. IMPROPER HANDLING. This, though often overlooked, is one of the major causes of shrinking. Especially true of woolsens. Most frequent mistake made is too high a temperature. Or too rapid drying. (Again, too much heat.)

2. STRETCHING IN MANUFACTURE. Little known and less suspected, this cause of shrinkage is a real headache to most of us. We're not often aware that manufacturers frequently stretch a garment to achieve a particular effect, but they do. Upon cleaning, wet or dry, it may... and often does... revert back to its original and smaller shape and size.

3. NOT PRE-SHRUNK. This is a major evil in terms of shrinkage. Why this happens is difficult to understand but manufacturers do make up finished garments without bothering to pre-shrink the fabric before cutting. AND FOR THIS YOU DO HAVE A REMEDY. Check the labels. If the fabric has been pre-shrunk, the label will say so. In yardage, of course, you can have it pre-shrunk before cutting and avoid trouble. For cleaning by people who know their business... call or bring it to us.

Michigan Office In Washington Desired

LANSING (AP)—Noting that Michigan was losing federal contracts while other states were gaining them, Gov. Williams has moved to re-establish a Michigan office in Washington.

The office, which would help Michigan manufacturers obtain federal contracts, was operated briefly in 1952.

"It greatly disturbs me to learn," Williams said in a statement, "that federal contracts are actually being taken away from Michigan and given to other states. In the first quarter of 1954, $300 million of contracts were cancelled in Michigan, while $600 million were placed in New York and $500 million in California."

ISHPEMING — Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Masek expect to leave Ishpeming August 30 for Manistique, where Masek will take over his official duties as lay minister in charge of St. Alban's Episcopal Church in Manistique and St. John's Mission at Nahma.

SAULT STE. MARIE—A short shipping season is in store for several Great Lakes freighters of the Pittsburgh Steamship Division. Scheduled for winter layup nearly two months earlier than usual are some 15 of the boats in the "tin stacker" fleet starting around the first of September, and possibly earlier. Some reports say one or two of the boats may head for port on or about August 28.

MARINETTE—Construction of the new National Guard Armory in Marinette is scheduled to start within 60 days. Washington has authorized "immediate construction," according to Capt. Jack Cavill, commanding officer of Company A of Marinette. The structure to be located on Carney Avenue west of the railroad tracks be-

According to a Michigan State Police report, the boy, Joseph E. Zehe, had shot at a bird. The bird ran and the boy, still carrying his gun, chased it. The gun, a 22 caliber rifle, discharged when the boy tripped and fell. The bullet entered the boy's left leg below the knee.

Upper Peninsula State Fair Has Quality Exhibits, Entertainment

THIS is fair week again in Escanaba. It is a week of fun, of bustling activity, of top quality entertainment. But most of all, it is a week of proudfest accomplishment.

Over the years the Upper Peninsula State Fair has come to be known as the "Show Window of the Upper Peninsula".

CLEOPATRA AND THE IVY LEAGUE

One of this department's more elegant acquaintances sends along a copy of the "Bulletin" of the Harvard Club of New York, marking for my attention this sentence: "The Club's chess team can neither drink the wine of victory nor the lees of defeat." In the margin is the scribbled notation, "What it means?" This ungrammatical formulation must, I am sure, be attributed to haste in writing, not—obviously—to any fault of my friend's education.

Well, what the sentence means is that the chess team hasn't done either well or badly. To borrow a more plebeian parallel from another pastime, while the Harvard men are not the Yankees, they're not the Pittsburgh Pirates, either.

The drinking of wine in celebration of victory is a custom which goes far back into classical antiquity. The "lees" of wine are the dregs, the bitter sediment which settles to the bottom of the wine vat in the aging process. Obviously, to the victors go the choicest portions of wine while the vanquished must be content with the dregs or "lees."

Even Yale men, it seems to me, could find it in their hearts to wish the Harvard chess players the "wine of victory" in the future. Considering the awesome quantities of the "lees of defeat" Harvard's football players have had to imbibe these past few years, it would seem the charitable thing to do.

Speaking of Ivy League matters—and let the quips fall where they may—perhaps one of my readers can tell me who first described the motto "For God, For Country and For Yale" as "the most crashing anticlimax in our language"? A Princeton pennant with tiger rampant goes to the first person sending in the right answer.

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

A MEETING in Hollywood recently was arranged between two girls seldom bracketed in the public imagination: Miss Edith Sitwell and Miss Marilyn Monroe. What's more, Miss Sitwell, famed for her poetry and her beautiful hands, and Miss Monroe, who boasts charms a trifle more obvious, were soon lost in most friendly and animated conversation. An eavesdropper avers that the subject under discussion concerned astrology in general and the constellation Sagittarius in particular. "I had no idea that you believed in astrology," exclaimed Miss Sitwell. Miss Monroe's ingratiating reply was, "I believe in everything—a little." Later Miss Sitwell confessed that two of her best friends were panting to meet the glamorous movie star. "Goody," said Marilyn. "Who are they?" Miss Sitwell told her, "Aldous Huxley and Igor Stravinsky."

Shirley Temple still shudders when she recalls the ordeal of her first press conference (when it was obvious she was headed

It has justly earned that reputation because the fair, with its educational exhibits in all phases of agriculture and industry, points to the accomplishments of Upper Peninsula residents and their businesses.

Fair week is fun week in Escanaba. But underneath the hilarity and carnival atmosphere, there is serious business. The justification for the fair is not the entertainment that it brings to thousands of people. This is merely an extra bonus for fair patrons.

The real purpose of the fair and the justification for its operation is the opportunity that it provides to Upper Peninsula folks to learn more about successful operation of their homes, their farms and their businesses. Because this purpose is well served at the fair, the exposition gains in strength each year.

For the third successive year, a free gate has been established throughout fair week. This means that patrons will not be required to pay admission to the grounds at any time. The educational offerings are available to all without charge. For those who desire the convenience of bringing their cars into the grounds, a small parking fee is assessed.

Visit the fair as often as you can. You will find each visit instructive and worthwhile. You will want to see, of course, all of the livestock exhibits and the exhibits in the various departments in the exhibition buildings. You will want to sit in on several of the demonstrations in the home-makers' display. And naturally you'll want to see several of the top entertainment programs that will be offered at the grandstand.

Questions and Answers

Q—How many times has the U. S. Congress declared war?

A—This is an ancient device for testing metals, especially precious ones. It is a black stone on which a metal such as gold can be rubbed, leaving a streak. The color of this streak will indicate the amount of other metal alloyed with the gold.

Q—Can tigers swim?

A—They are excellent swimmers. It is reported that tiger will even swim from one island to another in search of a better hunting ground.

Q—Is lightning zigzag in form?

A—Chain lightning appears to zigzag, but actually it is not angular but follows a winding path like a river often with many branches or forks.

The Doctor Says . . . Local Lesions In The Mouth May Be Treated With Radium

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

It is perhaps unnecessary to devote a full column to the subject of today's first inquiry although several correspondents have inquired about it.

Q—What is histoplasmosis? I have heard of the disease but have been unable to find anything about the symptoms, treatment or dangers.

A.J.A.

A—This is a widespread but not extremely common infectious disease. It seems to be most concentrated in the central Mississippi and Ohio River valleys. The responsible parasite frequently attacks the lungs without causing symptoms and may show up in the mouth, throat, or elsewhere. The disease usually results in enlargement of some of the lymph nodes and can usually be diagnosed either by a skin test or a test of the blood. Treatment is not too satisfactory though local lesions in the mouth may be successfully managed with radium. The outlook is good in those forms of the disease involving the lungs, somewhat questionable where the symptoms are localized as in the mouth and rather poor in those small number of cases where the disease gets spread throughout the entire body.

Q—Are a Wasserman test and a Mazzini test used for the same purpose?

Mrs. C

A—Yes, both are used to test for the presence of syphilis.

Q—Is there anything I can do to keep my husband from drinking beer which he does all of the time and does not eat?

Mrs. M.

A—It is doubtful that there is any drug which you can put in his beer which will make him stop. If he continues to drink beer and not eat it almost certainly will make him sick. Perhaps you can persuade him to get help from a psychiatrist or to join Alcoholics Anonymous.

Q—What is the effect of the drug called paraldehyde on the nerves. Mrs. L. S.

A—This has some pain-relieving properties and tends to relieve "nervous tension."

Q—What exercises can one take to reduce the size of the knees and hips?

Mrs. P.

A—There are no exercises that are considered effective in this respect.

Q—Please give me some information on geographic tongue.

A—Geographic tongue is considered relatively normal. It is characterized by slightly elevated, irregular, gray rings surrounded by reddish areas on certain portions of the tongue. It tends to come and go and may make the tongue somewhat sensitive but is of little consequence and does not require treatment.

Q—Is it injurious to take mineral oil every day up until retiring?

E.M.

A—It is not advisable. It may irritate the intestines and interfere with the absorption of certain vitamins.

Q—How much water should a person drink every day for good health? Should one leave it up to nature or force oneself to drink when not thirsty?

Mrs. H.G.

A—Assuming no disorder in which water should be restricted or increased, the thirst is a good guide as to how much to drink.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The Republican party is emerging as the liberal party of the nation, and President Eisenhower as the truly liberal leader.

This is because, under the acid test of what is or is not liberalism, the Republican party's leadership has taken the position that it will not punish its minority for dissenting views but will embrace within the fold the nominees of the Republican party as chosen by the people in their respective state primaries. Freedom of thought is the basic principle of liberalism.

All such things as "purges" of party nominees by the President are taboo. Mr. Eisenhower has been variously represented as adopting the Truman-Roosevelt view of party "leadership," which is really a form of dictatorship. That same view was adopted by Adlai Stevenson in the campaign of 1952 and has just been reiterated by him.

Mr. Eisenhower, on the other hand, feels that Republicans can differ conscientiously and that some of the men who did not vote for certain parts of his legislative program did so in the honest belief that they were voting as their constituents wanted them to vote.

The support of President Eisenhower in the coming campaign for those of his party who differed with him not only is liberalism and tolerance at its best but it recognizes the very important liberal principle that the voters themselves, through their freedom of choice in the primaries, shall decide who is entitled to wear the party label in a campaign.

PRACTICAL POLITICS

This has a direct bearing on the appearance just made by Mr. Eisenhower at the Illinois State Fair, where he was on the same platform with Joseph Meek, the Republican senatorial nominee in Illinois who previously had expressed different views from the President on various national issues. From a practical political standpoint, it has always been argued that the party leader who helps a congressional nominee get elected has a better chance of winning his support in congressional votes next time than if the nominee wins the election despite the leader's open opposition.

But the fundamental principle involved is that the party nominees cannot justly be repudiated by a President and that, once the people have chosen the party nominees, the President is in duty bound to support them.

But what about the regular Republican voters? What is their responsibility? There's an interesting situation in New Jersey, for example, where former representative Clifford Case won the Republican senatorial nomination in the primaries. He is facing a rebellion of Republican voters because of his record in the house of representatives, which it is charged resembled the New Deal. In addition to this, he made a foolish statement after his nomination this year about his intention, if elected, to vote against the selection of Senator McCarthy for a committee chairmanship next January if the Republicans win control of the senate. What he might have with propriety said was that he would vote against Senator McCarthy in the Republican conference, where a slate of chairmen is usually prepared in advance of a formal vote by the Senate. Had he done so, he would have been expressing his convictions—and he has as much right to his views as any other Republican—but he would not then be saying, in effect, that he would cast a vote to put the Democrats in control of the senate if by chance one vote would decide the issue of control.

LOYAL REPUBLICANS

Mr. Case still has an opportunity to clarify his position, as his original statement was vague on that point. Once he agrees to accept the obligations of a Republican nominee elected to the senate—which includes voting for the slate chosen by a party majority for chairmanships—he is entitled to go before the voters as a Republican and to express his views on any issues that he wishes.

This does not mean that Mr. Case necessarily can win the election, because he is up against the problem of persuading Republican voters to cast their ballots for him, and no voter is bound by his party under the American system. He can change parties at will. But Mr. Case's chances of winning the support of regular Republicans will be improved if he indicates an intention to remain loyal to the Republican party and to accept the judgment of the party conference in the senate on matters of committee control.

Senator Morse of Oregon, who classifies himself as an "independent" but who was nominated in the Republican primaries and elected in 1950, has a different concept of his responsibility to the Republican constituency which elected him. He feels that next year, if the Democrats win control, he can vote with them. This could mean that perhaps he does not intend to be a candidate in the Republican primaries again. But the important point is that Mr. Eisenhower is taking the truly liberal position when he says that he will support all Republican nominees and will not try to impose any "thought control" or "conformity of thought" on the nominees of the Republican party. He would be obliged under this doctrine to support Mr. Morse if the latter were renominated by the Republican party next time.

It's really a liberal viewpoint, and it is unfortunate that the Democratic leadership under Mr. Stevenson is still sticking to the reactionary concept that a clique of men can disregard the choice of the voters for members of congress in the democratic party primaries. Cranks And Crackpots Befuddle Puzzling Sheppard Murder Case

By JAMES CROSSLEY

NEA Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND —(NEA)— "Put Dr. Sam in a windowless room for 24 hours and then question him over a sound system. That'll make him talk."

That's the latest voluntary suggestion made to police investigating the murder of Marilyn Sheppard. It came in all seriousness from a psychiatrist fascinated, like thousands around the country, by the mystery.

The authorities, their cases gummed up with absurdities enough now, recoiled at the suggestion with horror.

"What does he think this is?" asked County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan, "A branch of the Gestapo?"

Practically everything has been tossed into the investigation of whether Samuel H. Sheppard is guilty of killing his wife. Every crackpot thinks he can crack the case.

One man confessed he did it. That was a Lorain, Ohio, steel worker. He was admitting it loudly in a bar. He changed his story in the cooler.

In Baltimore, a dritter who claimed he'd worked at the Sheppard's exclusive hospital long-distanced a Cleveland paper that he'd turned down an offer of $1,000 to kill Marilyn, then was offered $500 to find a professional killer. An officer flew down but reported the story "was cooked up to impress a blonde."

There's an open season for crank tips concerning any woman Dr. Sheppard might have known during his life—even some who were complete strangers.

Police were hunting a mysterious "Marko" he was supposed to have known on the west coast. Margot Peebles, of Detroit, a former Army nurse, got involved when her husband gave an "anonymous tip" that she might have been the woman. Police found she'd never heard of Dr. Sam until he put in the papers.

Mrs. Julie Lossman, wife of a Cleveland automobile dealer, joined the parade of voluntary information givers.

She'd had some hugging and kissing episodes with the doctor after he'd rebuilt her lacerated face when she an accident victim.

"I felt I owed him my life. . . I must have lost my head. . . Actually it was nothing. . . My husband and I didn't think it was important but I decided to tell all to the authorities. . . I'm sick of the whole thing."

She felt she had been "the aggressor," not Dr. Sam.

Another mystery woman named "Sandy" was mentioned in a police tip. That tip lost a ball game for Bob Kelly, a pitcher for the Indianapolis ball team.

A few hours before a game in Columbus, Ohio, he read in the papers that the trail led to no one else but his wife, Sandra, back in Indianapolis. Bob allowed three walks, four hits and three runs, and was jerked after three innings.

On closer scrutiny it developed that Mrs. Kelly had been a high school sorority friend of Mrs. Sheppard in Cleveland. It was when she was visiting Sam and Marilyn in California that she met Bob Kelly.

She's been a perfectly innocent friend of the family.

THE MAN IN THE ORTHOPEDIC COLLAR: Dr. Sam Sheppard's costume hasn't helped keep the case from sailing off the ground.

Another athlete, professional football star Otto Graham, was questioned along with his wife, without results.

But look out, gals. The police are on the hunt for a bare-looking girl who is said to have been parked with Dr. Sam near his home recently. A former Bay Village policeman volunteered that tip.

"I couldn't see any clothes on the woman," he reported.

Detective Chief James McArthur, by this time a bit wary, observed: "With the clothes women wear these days this might only mean that she was wearing a sleeveless dress."

When investigators began asking questions of the girls on the staff of the Sheppard hospital they got a hatful of catty comment aimed at Susan Hayes, a former lab technician there.

It was mostly "mee-ow" stuff but they hit pay dirt when they quizzed Susan herself. She admitted intimacies with the doctor.

Police have checked a flood of strange tips. When a woman dreamed there was a secret compartment in the third step of the Sheppard stairs, officers dutifully thumped and pried to disprove that dreams solve crimes.

After phone calls from various people who wanted to get in on the act, they searched the downspouts of the house, probed an unused well, dusted wrenches in Dr. Sam's Jaguar for fingerprints, checked his son's metal toys.

A golfing partner of Marilyn said a No. 8 iron was missing. The new "murder weapon" got banner headlines, but after a couple of days it was found that Marilyn never owned a No. 8 iron.

Prime missing clue is the T-shirt Dr. Sam wore on the night of the murder. At least three were turned in, including one found on a city dump and mailed in without name or address. None was Dr. Sam's.

Of course, Dr. Sam didn't help keep the case from sailing around about three feet off the ground. His orthopedic collar and dark glasses gave him the appearance of a flying saucer pilot. Things didn't settle down much either when he took to wearing a small revolver strapped around the waist while he was still at liberty.

Tip-weary police now have resorted to keeping the lie-detector machine fired up all the time and giving indiscriminate tests to everyone who volunteers a clue. The machine has freed Bay Village Mayor J. Spencer Houk of "suspicion."

NURSE SUSAN HAYES: Police hit pay dirt on "mee-ow" stuff.

Meanwhile, Dr. Sam has received an offer of $1,000 a month for a three-month lease on his lakeside home. Harry Albacker of Lorain would like to commercialize it as "a mecca for tourists and curiosity seekers."

VITAL STATISTICS—Just suppose (because it's not likely to happen) that four persons died of polio in Delta County within a period of 24 hours.

What would happen? The public reaction would be immediate and almost hysterical in demands that something be done for its protection.

Mothers would keep their children at home, public gathering would be cancelled, theaters would close, health agencies would move into battle formation against the polio enemy, the governor might declare a state of emergency, and there would be a demand for delay in the opening of schools.

But what happens when four lives are snuffed out in traffic accidents within a 24-hour period? There is a rather morbid curiosity expressed but not one demand for traffic accident prevention.

All of us are fearful (perhaps rightfully) of polio, a disease about which we know little and can do little to prevent; and all of us are largely indifferent to the greater danger of traffic accidents, about which we know much and could do much to prevent.

PUBLIC APPEAL—A doctor friend of mine, with whom I discussed the subject, said quite frankly "there would be all hell to pay if we had four polio deaths in 24 hours."

He agreed that while we have the answers on traffic accident prevention we don't apply them; but when it comes to polio prevention we know few of the answers but everyone is vastly concerned.

What form of appeal will inspire the people of the United States to heed the most elemental traffic safety rules? Isn't there some way that the slaughter can be reduced or eliminated?

The answers to these questions are a matter of life and death to you and to your loved ones. For traffic fatality statistics do not concern only the "other fellow"—you also are in the front line of the fight if you drive a car or ride in one.

It can happen to you. The chances of it happening to you are much greater than the possibility of death by polio or tuberculosis or most of the other dread diseases.

GROWING SLAUGHTER—Why are we relatively indifferent when friends relatives, the neighbor next door, is sacrificed in a needless destruction of life and property right here at home?

Perhaps because we feel there is nothing that can be done about it. Yet there is something we can do, if it is no more than to join in a concerted demand for emphasis at the local state and national level on traffic safety education and enforcement.

"The problem is to make everyone realize that these stunning statistics—38,300 killed, 1,350,000 injured, $3,950,000,000 wasted—are personal tragedies and personal crises to each person involved," according to a report from the 1954 White House Conference on Highway Safety.

The highway death totals have been rising each year since the end of World War II, going up steadily from 33,411 dead in 1946 to 34,763 in 1950 to last year's all-time high of 38,300.

There are some persons who will argue that because the volume of traffic is increasing faster than the fatalities, we are making strides toward improvement. The cost must be counted in human lives, however, rather than in coldly analytical curve of a line on a graph.

THE SAFETY PLEDGE—President Eisenhower, Governor Williams, your local law enforcement officers—all of them would like to see those traffic death totals go down instead of up each year.

The action committee for traffic safety, appointed following this year's White House Conference on Highway Safety, has devised a "Crusade for Traffic Safety" pledge as follows:

"I personally pledge myself to drive and walk safely and think in terms of safety."

"I pledge myself to work through my church, civic, business, and labor groups to carry out the official action program for traffic safety."

"I give this pledge in seriousness and earnestness, having considered fully my obligation to protect my life and the lives of my family, and my fellow men."

Bitter Sage

By Frank Gruber

WILD BILL HICKOK asked: "Didn't I hear you say you'd never fired a Frontier model till today?"

Tancred nodded. Hickok's eyes became thoughtful slits. "There used to be some fellows over in Missouri, who were awfully good with Navy guns. Ran into them now and then during the war."

Tancred drew a deep breath. "Quantrell's men used the Navy model exclusively. I rode with Quantrell."

"That's what I figured," Hickok held up his hand. "The war's been over a good many years. I guess everyone knows that I was on the other side, but in recent years I've talked to quite a few of the people who were with you and I've found a lot of them to be pretty decent citizens."

"Thanks," Tancred said, cynically. "Hm," mused Hickok. "When I was with Jim Lane in the early days I met a man who was awfully good with a Navy gun. In fact, he outshot me. Ted Bartles. Ran into him a few years ago. Said the boys over in Missouri put up a young chap to shoot against him, back in '67 or '68..."

"Donny Pence." "Ah, you remember!" Hickok chuckled. "Donny was only 19 or 20 at the time, but Ted tells me he shot rings around him. I guess you'd say that since Ted Bartles beat me and Donny beat him, that would make him just about the best man with a revolver in the country."

"That's possible." "Bartles said this young Donny never aimed, just threw down his gun like he was pointing it at the target and fired. Wonder what ever became of young Donny."

"I'm not Donny Pence," Tancred said. "Never said you was. Just talking about shooting. Lot of Quantrell's boys were awfully good with revolvers. Frank and Jesse James, the Younger Boys, Sam Alder, Dave Helm." Hickok broke off and studied Tancred a moment.

"Brings back memories, doesn't it?" Hickok sighed. "Don't do to look back, I guess." He shrugged. "I've had my times." He grunted. "You saw what I had to do today to make a few dollars. As a matter of fact, I'm broke. I got married only two months ago and here I am now, away from home, trying to make a stake. I'm on my way to the Black Hills Country. Well, it's been nice talking to you, Mr. Bailey."

He extended his hand, smiling. Tancred shook hands with him. Hickok started to go, then stopped. He looked quizzically at Tancred.

"There's a name keeps escaping me. There was a boy who rode with Donny Pence and the others during the war... some of the boys say he was a better shot even than Donny... you wouldn't remember who that was, would you?"

"No," said Tancred. Hickok nodded. "It's not important. Goodbye, Mr. Bailey." He went out, on to Deadwood, in Dakota Territory, where he would meet an obscure man named Jack McCall.

Luke Miller was not on the Monday morning train. Mrs. Miller came into the shop, after going to meet the train, a worried look on her face.

"Apparently he had to go on to Cincinnati. He can't possibly return before Thursday morning."

"It wouldn't take more than four or five hours to put the parts into the press," Mose Hudkins said. "If we had the pages all made ready we could still get the paper out by Thursday evening."

"But we haven't got a stick of type set!" exclaimed Mrs. Miller.

"I know what Mr. Miller would print on the front page," Tancred said. "The slate of candidates Mr. Packard and some other men are putting up against Jacob Fugger and his crowd."

Mrs. Miller winced. "That's going to mean more trouble."

"Especially since Mr. Miller's name heads the slate."

"No!" cried Mrs. Miller.

"He's the natural candidate for mayor," Tancred went on. "He's led the fight against Jacob Fugger."

For a moment Mrs. Miller looked crushed, but then she drew a deep breath. "I suppose you're right and if Luke were here, I'd back him... as usual. Do you suppose you could run over to Mr. Packard's store and get the list?"

Tancred nodded. "I'll go over right now."

He left the shop and walked to the Boston Store. It was a considerably smaller store than Fugger's big place and had only one clerk besides Packard.

Packard brightened when he saw Tancred. "You've changed your mind, Mr. Bailey?"

"No, I haven't. Mrs. Miller sent me over to get the details about the candidates. Mr. Miller hasn't returned yet and the rest of us are trying to get the paper ready to go to press."

"You're going to get out a paper this week?" "We're going to try."

Packard walked back to his desk and picked up a sheet of paper. He handed it to Tancred. The latter glanced at it.

"Miller for mayor," said Packard. "Fred Kraft for judge, Herb Glassman for prosecutor, besides the six for council. We still haven't decided on a man for sheriff."

"I like to make a suggestion," Tancred said. "Lee Kinnaird."

Packard's eyes narrowed. "Until last week he was a Fugger man."

"He isn't any more."

Regulation Of Milk Vending Machines Being Worked Out

LANSING (P)—The State Agriculture Department has served notice that it will proceed cautiously in setting up its code for the regulation of bulk milk vending machines in the state.

A state law passed last year legalizes bulk milk dispensers in restaurants and other places where milk can be sold by the glass.

Some such dispensers now are in operation in Michigan although the state code regulating them is not yet in effect. The dispensers now come under federal regulation.

"We want to make certain the entire process is clean and healthful," said George S. McIntyre, director of the state department.

Guardsmen End Field Training

CAMP GRAYLING (P)—Michigan's National Guardsmen were home again after what their commanding general termed "their most intensive and successful field training session."

Maj. Gen. Gordon A. McDonald of Detroit, who commands the 46th Division, said at a critique for guards officers and key non-coms that 58 of the 122 units of the Michigan division had won "superior" ratings from a Fifth Army inspection team.

In addition, MacDonald said, 48 units won "excellent" ratings and 16 were graded as "satisfactory." He figured the overall score "a high excellent."

The team observed the nearly 10,000 guardsmen in their two weeks of annual field training at Camp Grayling.

Gen. MacDonald said, "Michigan can be proud of the way its citizen soldiers have conducted themselves."

The all-Negro headquarters and service company of the 1279 Engineer Combat Battalion of Detroit won the Gen. Loveland merit award banner for 1954. It was rated the most proficient company-sized unit with a perfect score of 100 points.

Democrat Chairman Blasts 107 Million Power Plant Deal

CHICAGO (AP)—Stephen Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, suggests the Eisenhower administration either delay or withdraw its 107-million-dollar private power plant contract in the TVA area.

Mitchell said Sunday in firing another round at the so-called Dixon-Yates "deal":

"If there is merit in the administration position, it would not harm the project to delay it long enough to focus congressional scrutiny."

Early Start Promised
"But if the whole deal is the shoddy deal it appears to me, the wisest and most courageous course would be for the administration to withdraw it and admit a mistake," Mitchell spoke at a Democratic meeting in suburban Park Forest south of Chicago.

The administration said Saturday it was pushing toward an early start on the project to supply private power to the Memphis, Tenn., area over lands owned by the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Sunday the head of another group said its proposal would have saved the government 150 million dollars compared with the Dixon-Yates contract.

Walter von Teschow said in a statement in New York he felt his group "were treated as interlopers in a well-set program to do business with Dixon-Yates" before the Atomic Energy Commission.

Only One Meeting
He said his group's estimated cost of construction of the steam-generating power plant was between 90 and 100 million dollars, compared with 120 million in what he called the first Dixon-Yates proposal and 107 and 112 million in their second proposal.

Von Teschow declared, "We were granted only one meeting with the (atomic energy) commission personnel. We still have not received a detail of their analysis of our proposal, which we were promised."

Administration spokesmen denied previous hints by Mitchell that President Eisenhower's friendship for golfer Bobby Jones had anything to do with the contract award. Jones is a director of one of the firms.

Mitchell declared however, that "apologists for the Republican party have focussed the discussion" on the Eisenhower-Jones part of the controversy "instead of discussing the merits of the Dixon-Yates deal."

Police have instructions to get after drunken drivers and frequent reports appear in the papers of arrests made. This is part of a months-long campaign against excessive drinking in most strata of Soviet life.

The newspaper Evening Moscow announces that the Ministry of Automobile Transport and Highways has worked out a new, stiffer program for training drivers.

Applicants for Class 1 driver's licenses will be required to "know how to repair everything in a car."

Flint Ex-Mayor Safe From Law

FLINT (AP)—William H. McKeighan, five-time former Flint Mayor, continued a leisurely visit "back home" today, apparently safe from being picked up on an eight-year-old indictment charging him with gambling conspiracy and obstructing justice.

The 68-year-old one-time Republican power's return from Florida had been sought unsuccessfully since his indictment in 1946 by Circuit Judge Herman Denhke's one-man grand jury in the investigation of Macon County gambling. He flew back Friday of his own accord "on personal business."

A heart ailment which physicians said likely would kill him if he were returned had blocked at least three Michigan attempts at extradition. McKeighan says he still must spend at least one day a week in bed, but wants a trial date set.

When he heard of McKeighan's return, Judge Denhke notified state police. He said he thought McKeighan still was subject to arrest on sight.

But Saturday night state police announced they had found that a $25,000 bond posted by McKeighan still was valid and binding.

Postal Pay Raise Bill Gets Veto

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower today killed a 5 per cent pay increase voted by Congress for 1½ million federal workers.

In a statement at his vacation headquarters, the President said he was announcing his veto of the legislation "in order that federal workers may not have to undergo a period of uncertainty as to my action."

Congress passed the bill and sent it to the White House last Friday, just before it closed shop on legislative matters.

"This measure," the President said, "because it ignores the administration's recommendations for postal rate increases, would add 112 million dollars to the cost of operating the Post Office Department which is operating at a deficit of 400 million dollars this year."

"It is well to remember that since 1945 the accumulated postal deficit has reached the staggering total of four billion dollars. Likewise, this measure would add more than 200 million dollars to civil service pay without providing any revenue to meet it."

Pacific Fleet Will Fire On Hostile Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adm. Felix B. Stump, Pacific commander in chief, said today U. S. Navy units off the Communist China mainland would fire on any Reds who might approach "with obviously hostile intent."

Stump, who commands all American ground, sea and air forces in the Pacific, said units of his command would, in the face of any obvious threat, fire without waiting to be fired upon.

At the same time, he said "our forces do have orders to scrupulously avoid provocative action."

In a copyrighted interview with the magazine U. S. News & World Report, Stump said:

"The right to defend oneself legally becomes available immediately when the fact of hostile intent is recognized."

He said this rule also would be applied if Russian or Red Chinese ships or aircraft approach the United States.

Stump emphasized, as he has previously, that American pilots who last month shot down two Chinese Communist aircraft near the Red-held island of Hainan "were fired upon and we fired back in self-defense."

Asked if he had evidence of "unusual" Soviet submarine operations in the Pacific, Stump answered, "none that we can talk about." He did say the Russians have about 100 submarines in the Pacific.

Stump also side-stepped when asked if there were any truth to a Communist charge that American planes report to the Chinese Nationalists on ships heading for Communist ports.

"We conduct patrols over seas of the ocean in which we have an interest," he replied.

Charitable Lottery Bill Goes On Ballot

LANSING (AP)—The State Board of Canvassers today placed on the November ballot a constitutional amendment to permit charitable and non-profit organizations to conduct lotteries.

Garage Damaged By Tractor Truck

The Rossow garage at Day's River on US 2-41 was damaged extensively about 8:20 a. m. today when it was struck by a semi tractor-trailer of the Rosner Trucking Co., Pound, Wis. Driving the semi was Raymond Masgovitz of Lena, Wis. The tractor also was extensively damaged.

The accident was investigated by Michigan State Police, who ticketed Masgovitz for reckless driving. Two additional charges, use of a trailer with no license on trailer and driving tractor with an expired license, were placed on the ticket.

Arraigned today before Justice A. T. Sohberg, the driver entered a plea of not guilty. He had no money to post bond so he is at the county jail awaiting the arrival of word from the trucking firm.

Biggest Wooden Cross In World Blessed At Indian River Shrine

INDIAN RIVER (AP)—The world's largest wooden cross, a 55-foot, 14-ton structure, was blessed and dedicated Sunday at the Indian River Shrine before some 3,500 witnesses.

The Most Rev. Allen J. Babcock, bishop of the Grand Rapids Roman Catholic diocese, conducted the solemn rites atop "Calvary Hill," part of the shrine erected in honor of venerable Kateri Tekakwitha, an Indian maiden of some 300 years ago.

The shrine, started by the Rev. Charles D. Brophy, was financed by contributions from tourists and area residents.

Miss Sundelius, Richard Swanson In Bridal Rites

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday Aug. 21, at Bethany Lutheran Church, Miss Lorian Mae Sundelius, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sundelius, 1003 Lake Shore Drive, Escanaba, exchanged marriage vows with Richard Andrew Swanson of Sycamore, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Swanson of Sycamore are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. Gustav Lund, pastor of Bethany, solemnized the double ring service at 3 p. m. The reception which followed immediately was held in the church parlors.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of filmy white nylon tulle over satin, embellished with boucle embroidery. The fitted bodice was designed with a flattering off-the-shoulder neckline, long embroidered sleeves ending in a point at the wrist and traditional tiny button back closing. The full double skirt of nylon tulle over satin had a nylon boucle embroidered scalloped overskirt and a nylon pleated flounce. The bride's white gold cross necklace was the bridegroom's gift. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a coronet. She carried a nosegay bouquet of white feathered mums and stephanotis outlined with ivy with narrow ribbon streamers knotted with stephanotis and ivy.

Attendants In Pink

Her three attendants wore identical jacketed dresses of pink nylon boucle and net. The snug bodices were strapless and the waltz length skirts had bands of nylon boucle etched on tiers of net ruffles. Standup collars detailed the jackets. Tiny face veils completed their costumes and they carried nosegays centered with a baby pink rose, surrounded by white feathered mums and purple button poms, backed by ivy. Miss Charlene Swanson of Crystal Lake, Ill., was maid of honor and Miss Carolyn Bloomquist of Joliet, Ill., and Mrs. Kenneth Larson of Chicago were bridesmaids.

Ronald Wirsing of Sycamore was Mr. Swanson's best man. Groomsman were Gerald Swanson, a brother of the bridegroom, and Thomas Johnston of Sycamore. Duane Boekenbauer of Waterman, Ill., ushered with LeRoy Johnson of Bark River.

Mrs. Sundelius chose a navy blue faille suit for her daughter's wedding. Her accessories were navy and white and pink glamelias were in her corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a brick-red knit suit with black accessories and a white glamelia corsage.

Prelude of Organ Music

A 15-minute prelude of organ music was played by Gilbert Freeman, Aurora, Ill., as the guests were assembling for the service. Donald Nelson, student pastor at Bethany, who was soloist, sang "Wedding Prayer," "Abide With Me Now and Forevermore" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mr. Freeman, who accompanied him, also played the Bridal Chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin" as the processional and the Mendelssohn recessional.

White gladioli arranged with burning candles in branched candelabra formed the setting for the service. The pews were marked with white satin ribbon and clusters of pink gladioli.

The color theme of the wedding was repeated in the decor at the reception. Pink and white gladioli were arranged throughout the parlors and were combined with pink tapers on the serving table. The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with stephanotis, Miss Jerine Hendrickson and Mrs. Tony Fittante poured. Mrs. George Rodman served the wedding cake and Miss Barbara Klasek was in charge of the guest book.

Augustana Graduates

When the couple left for their honeymoon the bride was wearing an oxford grey tweed suit with gold accessories and an orchid corsage. They will live in Rock Island, Ill., where the bride will teach and her husband will continue his schooling. Both are graduates of Augustana College. The former Miss Sundelius is a member of Chi Omega Gamma sorority. Rho Nu Delta is Mr. Swanson's fraternity.

Here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Stromborg, Arnold Swanson, Lloyd Larson and Mrs. Hilda Thorpe of Sycamore members of the Thorpe family, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Boekenbauer and the Misses Clara and Joyce Greeley of Waterman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson and daughter, Carolyn, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sundelius, Rudolph Sundelius and Mrs. Andrew Kallberg of Chicago, Miss Joanne Larson of Jamestown, N. Y., Ray Hallin of Aurora, Kenneth Larson of Chicago and Miss Judy Tomack of Wheaton, Ill.

THE FORMER Lorian Mae Sundelius, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sundelius, 1003 Lake Shore Drive, and Richard Andrew Swanson of Sycamore, Ill., repeated their vows in a candlelight ceremony Saturday afternoon at Bethany Lutheran Church. The reception was held in the church parlors. (Portrait by Millie)

BAD CARD-READING

Considering East's play to the first trick in the following deal, the declarer's second-trick decision was rather less than realistic.

North dealer.		East-West vulnerable.
♠ A K	♠ 9 7 6	♠ A K	♠ 9 7 6
♥ J	♥ 5 2	♥ J	♥ 5 2
♦ Q J 10	♦ A 9 6 4	♦ Q J 10	♦ A 9 6 4
♣ Q 5 2	♣ K J 10 8	♣ Q 5 2	♣ K J 10 8
The bidding:
North	East	South	West
1♥	Pass	2NT	Pass
3NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Academically speaking, South stretched his two-no-trump response a little, since this jump bid shows 13-15 highcard points and South had only 12, but that was not South's real corner. The contract should have worked out to North-South's advantage.

West opened the diamond queen. Dummy played low, East discarded a low spade and South won. Now South laid down the heart queen. As he explained later, it was obvious that at least three heart tricks were needed, and since the heart jack was at large it seemed better to lay down the queen, guarding against a possible singleton jack in the East hand, than to finesse immediately to dummy's ten. Unfortunately, though the queen smothered the jack, East had two stoppers in his A-9-6-4, and before declarer could knock out the second stopper, East had established three club tricks for his side.

If nothing significant had turned up on the first trick, South's lead of the heart queen would have been fairly logical. But something highly significant had been revealed—West had a six-card diamond suit while East was void of that suit! Thus, it was infinitely more probable that if hearts were divided 4-1 or 5-0, East, not West, had the greater length. If East had A-J-9, there was nothing South could do about it, but by leading low toward dummy South could easily take advantage of finding the blank jack or the guarded jack in West's hand. In the first-named case the king would smother the jack, and later, the eight could be led through East for a finesse against the nine. If, on the lead toward dummy, West played low, the ten could be finessed.

Boys And Girls Dress Alike In Latest U.S. Campus Rage

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

How are you going to tell the girls from the boys? The new look-alike fad that started this summer and is slated to sweep college and high school campuses this fall poses some problems for near-sighted teachers.

Not satisfied with adopting the man's shirt, schoolgirls this fall are borrowing most of the other casual fashions—Bermuda shorts, knee socks, sport-car coat, and in some instances, even his haircut.

When a girl has a crew-cut and is attired in shorts, socks, shirt, shoes and coat just like her brother's how is a teacher to know whether to call her Mary or John?

Top campus style for both boys and girls this fall is reported to be charcoal gray flannel Bermuda shorts, pink man-tailor-shirts, knee socks either in matching gray or a contrasting color, and the short storm coat originally designed for men, now adopted by girls.

Universal choice in shoes to go with this outfit is the loafer or moccasin, for both boys and girls.

So far the only deviation in this look-alike fad is that girls prefer their knee socks in vivid colors or Argyle patterns, while men stick to dark socks to match their sweaters, which may be bright red, green or any of a range of pastels now offered by alert manufacturers.

The dress-alike craze, of course, holds good only for casual daytime occasions. For dances and dates the girls go back to their petticoats and high heels, earrings and perfume, and look as feminine as any old-fashioned beau could desire.

FREEZING DAIRY PRODUCTS

Housewives going away on vacation can put butter, homogenized milk and cream in the home freezer, say Department of Agriculture dairy specialists. The cream or milk should be frozen in waxed cartons or freezer containers rather than in glass bottles. Long frozen storage is not recommended.

Making chicken or ham croquettes for a spring luncheon? Try this flavor trick: Add a couple of tablespoons of diced pimiento and a few teaspoons of minced parsley to the croquette mixture before you shape it.

LOOK-ALIKES . . . Girls and boys adopt the same campus outfits this fall: Bermuda shorts, knee socks, boys' shirts and boxy, knee-length gabardine coats.

Church Rites For Nan Arntzen And James E. Cretens

James Edmond Cretens claimed Miss Nan Carolyn Arntzen as his bride in a ceremony Saturday, Aug. 21, at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Escanaba. The Rev. Johannes Ringstad officiated at the 2 p. m. service at an altar adorned with bouquets of white gladiolus and flanked with artistic arrangements of mixed gladiolus.

The reception from 3 to 6 was held in the church parlors.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arne Arntzen of 1409 7th Ave. S., wore a floor length gown of white tulle and nylon tulle. The fitted bodice featured folds of tulle forming a V-neckline. The circular skirt was dotted with tiny tulle bows. Short mitts completed the gown. Her imported illusion fingertip veil was attached to a tiara made of illusion flowers and leaves, dotted with seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white pompons and red roses. The bridegroom's gift, a pearl necklace, was her only jewelry.

The honor maid wore aqua net over tulle, the dress styled with a lace bodice, sleeveless jacket and bouffant skirt. Her headpiece of flowers matched her colonial bouquet of white pompons and pink carnations. Miss Nault wore pink net over tulle. Her gown had a lace bodice tapering at the waist line and was worn with a lace sleeveless jacket. She carried a colonial arrangement of white mums and blue carnations and her headpiece was of matching flowers. The little flower girl was costumed as a bride, in a miniature replica of the bride's ensemble. She carried a dainty colonial bouquet of blue, white and pink flowers.

Mrs. Fernstrom, organist, played a prelude of bridal music as the guests were assembling in the church. Arnold Bernsten of Savanna, Ill., an uncle of the bride, who was soloist, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." He was accompanied by Mrs. Fernstrom, who also played the processional and recessional.

Mrs. Arntzen, mother of the bride, attended the wedding and greeted guests at the reception in a two piece navy blue sheer with which she wore a polka dot blouse, navy jacket with rhinestone trim and white accessories. Her corsage was formed of deep pink gladiolus. The bridegroom's mother was attired in turquoise. Her accessories were black and red roses were in her corsage.

A four-tiered wedding cake decorated with red roses and topped by a bridal couple figurine centered the serving table at the reception. Tapers in white candelabra and flowers completed the appointments. Assisting were Miss Claire Schafer and Miss Pat Wils of Rapid River and Miss Arlene Nault of Escanaba.

MANISTIQUE

HANGOVER REMEDY — A blast of dynamite lifts a section (dotted line) of Niagara Falls Prospect Point into the air during "remodeling" operations at the famed honeymoon spot. The dynamiting was designed to clear away the dangerous overhanging rock left after the recent major rockfall.

Boyd, Chartier, Hentschell Lead Local Festival Racers

Between 1500-2000 spectators saw ten powerboat races, a log-birding exhibition, canoe races, water skiing and other local events at the fourth Veterans of Foreign Wars Water Festival Sunday on the Manistique River.

In the three local powerboat contests, held following the seven Upper Peninsula Outboard Racing Association races over the one-third mile course, Ted Hentschell, Larry Boyd and Clyde Chartier swept to victories.

Hentschell, piloting Boyd's, 12-foot model BD Arrowcraft with a 7½ horsepower motor, led Bob Walters and Leon Duquette home in the Class A stock utility race.

Other Locals

Boyd used the same boat with a 10 h. p. engine to stay ahead of George Rodmonich and Walters in the Class B stock utility event.

Driving a hydroplane with a 25 h. p. engine, Chartier led Hentschell and Boyd across the finish line in the local open race, Hentschell used a 14-foot Arrowcraft with a 40 h. p. engine, while Boyd used his same boat and engine in the race.

Association Races

Chartier, the only local entrant in any of the Association sanctioned races, placed third in the free-for-all event with the same rig that he used in the local event. He sheared a pin in his motor preceding the race but was able to replace it and stayed third throughout most of the run. First in that event was Bill Cloon, Ironwood, while Lee Mantill, Green Bay, Wis., took second.

The association Class A stock utility run was taken by Archie Visnaw, Cedarville, while 13-year-old Ken Stallman, Eagle River, Wis., placed second. Copping third was Dick Wilson from Carrollton, Ill.

In the open class A (stock and hydroplane) Eric Wilson, also Sarrolton, Ill., ran first as Visnaw and Stallman trailed for second and third, respectively. The Class B open first spot was awarded to Sonny Alt, Boulder Junction, Wis., in a hydroplane. Another hydroplane driver, Weldon Burkle, Eagle River, Wis., took second. Harold Don Westman, Newberry, Wis., followed for third.

Further Races

In the Class B stock utility competition Vernon Hassack, Cedarville, led Westman and Dennis Berghauer, Eagle River, Wis., across the finish line. Mantill won the Class C stock race, followed by Westman and Berghauer.

Ironwood's Cloon paced Mantill and Ray Thompson, Peshtigo, Wis., across the line in the Class D utility race.

Piloting canoes in the late afternoon events, Don Harbick and Bill Sheahan Jr., nosed out Dean Deloria and Tod Bender for first place.

Both during and after a series of foot-races for local youngsters, Lawrence Rubick and Ann Girvin demonstrated their talents on water skis. Fireworks completed the Festival, reignited over queen Naomi Sien and her court of Constance McEachern and Beverly Gentz.

Car Fails To Halt, Causes City Wreck

Failure to stop for a stop sign caused a two-car collision at 10 a. m. Saturday at the intersection of E. Elk and N. Cedar Sts. No one was injured but both cars were heavily damaged.

City Police reported that Albert August Noteboom Jr., 18, Mt. Clemens, failed to see the stop sign on N. Cedar St., and headed north across the Elk St., thoroughfare. His 1954 coach drove into the path of a 1952 coach driven by Joseph George Prusak, Lincoln Park. Prusak was traveling east on E. Elk when the accident occurred.

Although Noteboom claimed that the stop sign was obscured by a parked car City Police Chief Roy Anderson noted no sign of a vehicle when he arrived on the scene of the crash shortly after it happened.

Prusak reported that he attempted to avoid the accident by trying to swerve to the left, but was unsuccessful. Both automobiles incurred estimated damages of $200, to the left-front of Noteboom's car and to the right-front of the other. Both were traveling at 25 miles per hour when they met.

The War 10 Years Ago

Aug. 20 — Sept. 3, 1944

Four Allied armies were trying to hurl the Germans out of western France in mid-August. One of these, the 3rd of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., drove toward Paris and planted bridgeheads across the Seine. On Aug. 25 a French division stormed into the capital and the German garrison surrendered. After the fall of Paris, all four armies drove toward the German border. By Aug. 26 they were across the Seine on a 200-mile front and racing through the battlefields of World War I. Town after town fell and by Sept. 3 the British drove into Belgium. In southern France, Allied armies penetrated Toulon and Marseille and liberated them by Aug. 28. A column of U. S.-French troops stormed up the Rhone Valley and occupied Lyon on Sept. 3. In Italy, Americans burst across the Arno on the western coast and captured Pisa Sept. 2. On the eastern European front, the Russians opened two offensives in Romania and Romania resistance immediately collapsed. The Bucharest government accepted Allied armistice terms and declared war on Germany Aug. 25. The Russians then proceeded to drive the Germans out of Romania, with Ploesti falling on Aug. 30 and Bucharest the next day.

Council To Deal With Three Bids

Several bids tabled from the Aug. 9 meeting will be discussed and acted upon when the City Council convenes at 7:30 p. m., tonight at the City Hall. They will also deal with a petition for restricted parking on Maple St., between Arbutus Ave., and Oak St.

Bids previously submitted and tabulated by the City Manager include those on new treated fire hose, cleaning and painting of the water tower and street lighting materials.

At the last session of the Council a low bid on the fire hose was thought "too cheap" by Fire Chief Elmer Boal and the City Manager was directed to investigate an unspecified bid submitted by Hoholik Plumbing.

The lighting material will be used for replacement of the stretch from the bridge to Main St., on River St.

Five petition signers had requested, at the last meeting, to restrict parking on Maple St., by placing one-hour limit signs along the south side of the block. The City Manager had been directed to investigate.

Benjamin Henry Walker, 66, Gulliver, was found dead about 11:30 a. m. Saturday in his garden. The attending physician declared that he had suffered a heart attack.

Walker had been cultivating with a small garden tractor prior to his attack.

Walker was born Jan. 13, 1888 at St. Joseph's Island, Ontario. He came to this country in 1910. He first came to Gulliver in 1912 then resided in Detroit for 28 years. He lived in Gulliver for the past two years.

He married Anna Oehikey in Detroit in 1928. For 25 years he was employed with the Detroit water department.

He is survived by his widow; one brother, Ernest Walker, Detroit; and one sister, Mrs. Anna Galbraith, Wayne.

Brief funeral services were held Sunday evening at the Messier-Broulliere funeral home with the Rev. Mrs. Claude Lyons, Gulliver, officiating. The body was taken to the Gordon Crabb funeral home, Detroit, where committal services will be held Wednesday afternoon. Burial will be in Forest Lawn cemetery, Detroit.

Officers, Directors Meet To Discuss Plans

Meeting tonight at the Chamber of Commerce building will be the newly-elected officers and directors of the Indian Lake Property Owners Association. The group is expected to take steps to insure repairing of the dam and acquisition of title.

They may also make plans for construction of a new dam. President Calvin Stevens will preside.

Metal Plentiful—But No Use For It

TRAIL, B. C. (AP)—At Kimberley, 90 miles northwest of here, is perhaps the world's largest source of indium, which may turn out to be a 20th Century Cinderella metal. Scientists are seeking new and wider uses of this silvery white element, one of the softest metals known. Indium resembles aluminum and thallium in its properties. It is almost soft enough to be chewed.

Indium is used as an indicator in atomic piles since radioactivity can be induced easily in the metal. As an ingredient of solders, it lowers the melting point considerably. An indium-tin alloy makes effective glass-to-glass and glass-to-metal seal. Applied to bearings in some aircraft and racing engines it has valuable antiseizure qualities.

The mine at Kimberley could produce about a million ounces annually, though production is much less because the demand is small.

Briefly Told

Building Committee—The building committee of the Presbyterian Church will meet in the church at 7:30 tonight.

Legion Auxiliary — The American Legion Auxiliary will meet in the clubrooms at 8 tonight. There will be an installation of officers.

Pennsylvania Park Plans Big Fountain

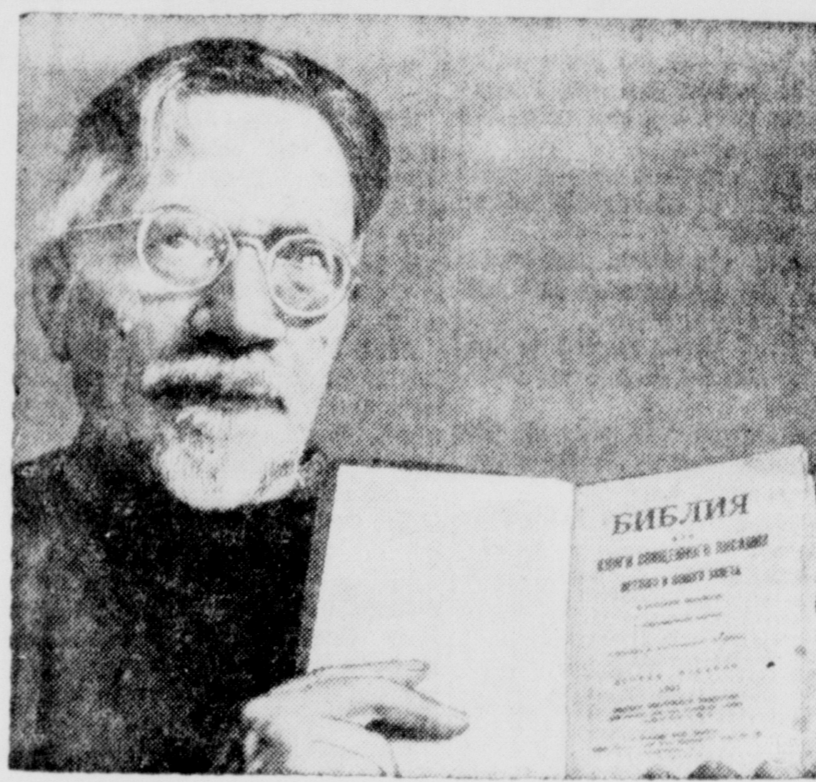

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pennsylvania has established a state park here complete with plans for a huge fountain. But it does not want to pay the water bill.

The fountain is designed to shoot a column of water 100 feet or more in the air. The column will eject 6,000 gallons of water a minute, but the water will be recirculated and there will be little loss. The city council, after investigation, agreed to pay the water bill.

PASSES SIGN

Orpha E. Robertson, a Ferndale nurse, was arrested at 11:55 a. m. Saturday by the State Police for running a stop sign at M-94 and Indian Lake Road. She must report to Justice Court by Aug. 28.

GLADSTONE

CARRYING THE GOOD WORD—Rev. Basil Malof, of Boston, Mass., who calls himself "God's Smuggler," holds one of the Bibles printed in Russian which he is smuggling across the Iron Curtain. He has already placed over 83,000 Bibles in Russia and plans to print an additional 1,000,000 Bibles and 5,000,000 New Testaments all in the Russian language. The smuggling methods are only known by Reverend Malof and his followers.

Lawyers Studying New Anti-Communist Bill

By JAMES MARLOWE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress acted in haste when both houses Thursday passed a bill to deny the Communist party legal privileges and force its members to register with the government. The bill goes now to President Eisenhower to be signed into law.

Because it was whipped together so fast, government lawyers, who will have the task of making it work if the President signs, must think it through to determine exactly what it means and how they shall proceed under it. They cannot say precisely now.

In the preamble to this legislation Congress declares the Communist party is part of a conspiracy to overthrow the government by force and therefore "should be outlawed." Nowhere else does Congress say the party is outlawed or that it must cease to exist.

What Rights Are Lost?

In the dictionary meaning of outlaw—"to deprive of the benefit and protection of law"—the Communist party is outlawed, at least in so far as federal laws are involved. The legislation says the Communist party or its successors under any other name are not entitled to "any of the rights, privileges and immunities attendant upon local bodies."

But what rights, privileges and immunities does the party lose? No one available would attempt to give a complete list.

Under this bill the party could not put candidates on the ballot in any federal election. And the party could not make contracts where federal laws were involved or sue in federal courts. That much seems clear.

What is less clear is what rights, privileges or immunities it might have under state laws. One lawyer, who followed this legislation closely, said that while Congress could keep the Communist party candidates off federal ballots it could not tell states what parties could appear on their state election ballots.

It seems a safe bet the party will fight this legislation all the way up to the Supreme Court, or try to, on the grounds it is unconstitutional. But if the party loses there and folds and later reappears under another name, will the government have to go through another long court fight to prove it's the same old Communist party? That can't be said now.

The party may have to fold anyway before it ever gets up to the Supreme Court on this legislation.

Eugene Crosswell Injured In Crash

Eugene P. Crosswell of Bay View sustained cuts and bruises about the body and his auto was damaged to the extent of $600, it was estimated, in an accident Sunday morning at 1 on US-241 about 500 feet north of the intersection with County Highway 426.

Crosswell told Michigan State Police who investigated that as he was descending the hill toward the E. & L. S. overpass another driver passed on the yellow line and cut in short. He said he applied the brakes to avoid a collision and the auto skidded and he lost control. The car struck the curb on the right side then slid across the highway on its top to the left hand curb where it rolled over again.

Another motorist, a witness to the accident, said that the same driver who caused the crash had passed him and cut him short about 1000 feet south of the underpass.

Crosswell's injuries were self-treated.

Racing Days Ended For Native Dancer

By JOHN CHANDLER
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., (P) —Native Dancer, the great grey champion known as "the people's horse" although owned by a millionaire, is going home to Maryland—his racing days ended.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt reluctantly decided Sunday to retire the powerful 4-year-old colt to stud after the recurrence of an injury to his right forefoot.

The idol of millions, at the tracks and over the television lanes, was to have started in the mile and three quarters Saratoga Cup Friday. Then a decision was to have been made whether to fly the colt to France.

Vanderbilt made his decision suddenly after conferring with trainer Bill Winfrey. The Dancer, winner of 21 of his 22 races, work-

Souchak Shoots 10 Under Par

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (P)—Doug Ford of Klamath Lake, N.Y., won the $2,400 top money with a 270 in the Fort Wayne Open golf tournament Sunday, but Mike Souchak's final round of 62, 10 under par, stole the show.

Souchak, a former Duke University star from Durham, N.C., hadn't even been in the top 24 after the first three days of play, but his record-equaling round gave him a 273 for the $1,800 second-place prize.

He matched the Elks Country Club course record set in the open here last year by Dr. Carey Middlecoff of Memphis. Souchak's round included 10 birds, and he wasn't over par once.

Ford had an eagle and six birds and went over par only on the 18th.

None of the top 11 finishers had any round over par in the four days of the $15,000 tourney.

Jack Burke Jr. of Klamath Lake and Pete Cooper of Tampa, Fla., the leaders on the first two days, were in the five-way tie for third place at 275. Also collecting $1,020 each were Earl Stewart Jr. of Dallas, Jimmy Clark of Huntington Beach, Calif., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis.

Four with 276 for eighth place were Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., Jerry Kesseling of Toronto and Ralph Lomeli of Fresno, Calif.

Joe Campbell of Anderson, Ind., a former amateur champion, finished first among the amateurs with 281.

Seven Finish Channel Swim

POLKESTONE, England (P)—Swimming the English Channel still is far from an easy task, but it's getting almost common place.

Seven of the 15 entries, including three women, completed the 21 mile race from Cap Gris Nez, France, Saturday with Joaquim Baptista Pereira of Portugal winning first prize of $1,400 and a trophy valued at $2,940.

The stubby, 33-year-old father of three won in 12 hours, 25 minutes as compared to the record of 10 hours, 50 minutes set in 1950 by Hassan Abdel of Egypt.

Brenda Fisher of Britain was the only woman finisher and she was third in 14 hours, 36 minutes.

The lone American entry, Bob Payson of Gastonia, N. C., gave up two miles from the England coast after being in the water 12 hours, 50 minutes.

Drain-Ball Homer Wiped Off Books

(By The Associated Press)
Charleston's celebrated "drain-ball" homer was wiped out of the record books officially and finally Sunday as the Kansas City Blues poured on the steam in the American Association race.

The Blues beat the Senators twice, 12-3 and 2-1, Sunday—with the first game taking up where Friday's contest was protested, in the fourth inning.

The Blues wasted no time set Friday with a Charleston runner on second and two out. Rocky Tedesco socked a pitch into fair territory but the ball rolled out of bounds and down a drain.

Umpires ruled the ball went for a home run and Charleston eventually recorded a 4-3 victory. However, American Association president Ed Doherty later said it was

Segregation Is Church Problem

EVANSTON, Ill. (P)—Christian leaders from many lands were told that racial segregation is "the great scandal in the church especially in the United States and South Africa."

The problem was laid before delegates to the assembly of the World Council of Churches with a suggestion that they search for its solution in "a calm Christian spirit."

"Church Scandal"

Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, termed racial separation "the great scandal in the church," and added: "The local churches permit secular bodies such as the state and federal courts, the United Nations, big league baseball, professional boxing, colleges, the public schools and theaters to initiate change in the area of race."

"But even when secular bodies initiate the change, local churches, Negro and white, follow slowly or not at all."

Look For Guidance

"It will be a sad commentary on our life and time if future historians can write that the last bulwark of segregation based on color in the United States and South Africa was God's church."

Dr. Ben Marais of the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa told the conferees:

"Christian men and women in many lands look towards the church for guidance."

He pointed out that tensions often develop between racial groups and added:

"Therefore it is becoming that we face this problem in a calm Christian spirit."

Son Of Wealthy Floridian Murdered

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (P)—The nearly nude body of the 17-year-old son of a well-to-do Coral Gables family was found hanging from a stick between two trees.

The youth was Kenneth Grimm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence O. Grimm. The father owns Grimm Electric Co. here.

Kenneth was last seen about 6 p. m. Thursday. The father found the body in a vacant lot near his home after a search that began at midnight and continued for several hours.

When found, the boy's feet were bound with a rope which encircled his neck, causing him to hang head downward with his body bent in a sharp arc. The rope encircled a tree.

He was clad only in a T-shirt and shoes. The remainder of his clothing was on the ground at the base of a tree.

FIRST DOLLAR

America's first dollar bears the date of 1776, but few colonists ever saw one. The coin probably was struck in England and little more is known about it.

Triplet Son Arrives Late

DETROIT (P)—A 6-pound, 10-ounce boy gained strength at Herman Kiefer Hospital but he had a long way to go to catch up with the other two thirds of the Braxton triplets.

The reason: the other two, both girls, were born 20 days earlier. The boy was born Friday afternoon, completing a case extremely rare — perhaps unprecedented — in medical history.

Mrs. Boyd Braxton was told July 31, when the twin girls were born, that she would have to return to the hospital soon to give birth to a third child.

Dr. Paul T. Salechow, medical director at Herman Kiefer, said the boy probably was conceived about two weeks later than the girls, and in a second uterus.

The record interval between births of twins is 36 days, Dr. Salechow said, so the 20 days was far short of that. But he said the incidence of triplets in double wombs "is unheard of, so far as we have been able to determine at this time."

The Braxtons have six other children.

New Social Security Provisions Outlined

WASHINGTON (P)—Here is a summary of provisions of the compromise social security bill:

BENEFITS — Increases averaging $6 a month to all 6½ million persons now on social security rolls will become effective in September. Minimum increase for all 5 million retired persons is $5 a month, so that lowest payment to them hereafter will be $30. The 1½ million dependents will get a somewhat lesser figure. Formula covering benefits for persons retiring in future will be revised to provide for much larger increases. For instance, maximum individual payment will go up from $85 to $108.50, and for a couple from $127.50 to $162.75.

TAXES — Tax base on which 2 per cent levy is paid each by employer will be raised from $3,600 to $4,200 a year, effective Jan. 1, 1955. This will mean a $12 tax boost for an individual earning $4,200 or more next year and also for his employer.

Coverage — Social security system will be extended to about 10 million more persons effective Jan. 1, 1955. Included on a compulsory basis will be 3,600,000 farm operators, two million farm hands, about 100,000 engineers, architects and accountants, about 250,000 domestic workers, about 100,000 home workers and about 50,000 persons in the fishing industry. Included on a voluntary basis will be 3½ million state and local government employees, who will have to decide in a referendum whether to go under the federal system; and 260,000 ministers.

DISABILITY FREEZE—A new provision is added which guarantees that an individual who has no earnings for several years because of a disability does not suffer any reduction in his retirement payment as a result.

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE and other relief programs — Extends a 1952 law boosting the amount the federal government contributes to these relief programs. The 1952 law raised by $5 a month the federal share of assistance payments to the aged, blind and totally disabled and by $3 the contribution to dependent children payments. This law now is scheduled to expire Sept. 30.

More progress comes from an individual through a little encouragement than a whole book of advice.
